HITS LAKES

Wreckage Litters Shores of Inland Seas.

Loss of Life and Destruction to Property Appalling—Tales of Horror Told by Survivors.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—The shores of Lake Superior, Huron and Erie were strewn tonight with the wreckage of a three day gale and a snowstorm, which cost the lives of probably three score persons, turned bottomup in mid-lake a 300-foot vessel with its crew, wrecked or grounded numerous other craft and caused a property loss as yet unestimated, but which will run into the millions.

The details of the storm, which literally swept from the western end of Lake Superior to the eastern shore of Lake Erie, became known only today when survivors began arriving in various ports with tales of hardships and heroic rescue seldom equaled on the lakes.

The land the storm hit hardest was at Cleveland, O., where twenty-one inches of snow fell, five persons were killed, and ten others lost, and where $2,000,000 damage was caused to property, chiefly telephone and telegraph systems, thus keeping that city out of direct communication for two days. The death toll with many ports unreported, is told thus:

Twenty-five, perhaps forty, men probably drowned in the overturning of a freighter found floating in Lake Huron.

Five bodies washed ashore at St. Joseph, on the Canadian side of Lake Huron. Four had belts marked "Wexford," and one wore a belt marked "London."

Three bodies washed ashore on the West shore of Lake Huron.

Two bodies washed ashore opposite the position of the overturned boat.

Six members of a lightboat drowned in Lake Erie, near Buffalo, New York.

The escapes from death were numerous. After the storm about Friday midnight, had blown away the forward part of the ship, Capt. J. W. Duddleson, of the steamer L. C. Waldo, navigated by a small inaccurate compass and the aid of a lantern, held by a sailor. In this way he guided himself and crew to a reef, where the crew on landing, suffered intense cold and hunger until their rescue today.

The crew on the Turret Chief, when the ship struck the rocks in Lake Superior, were forced to go ashore scantily clad. They built a hut to protect them from the blizzard.

It was impossible even to estimate the loss to vessels wrecked or damaged by grounding. Shippers in Detroit estimated the loss in Lake Huron and the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers at alone to be several hundred thousand dollars. Three of the wrecked steamers increase the loss by $500,000, while the scores of smaller craft driven ashore in Lake Superior and Lake Erie will send the total much higher.

The more important mishaps to vessels were:

Unidentified 300-foot steel freighter, floating bottom-up in Lake Huron, a few miles south of Port Huron. Built in Canada, cargo probably flax; United States life-saving crew found vessel in such position as to have made it almost impossible for any of the crew of twenty-five to have escaped.

Lightship No. 22 in Lake Erie, off Port Albion, fifteen miles west of Buffalo, with crew of six, believed lost; lifeboat found floating bottom-side up in wreckage of ship floated into Buffalo harbor.

Steamer Turret Chief, of the Merchants' Mutual Line, of Ontario, went to pieces on the rocks, six miles east of Keweenaw Point in Lake Superior before daylight Saturday; bound for Port Arthur, Ont. Blown fifty miles off course to the south shore; crew of seventeen rescued after having lived for three days in a hut on a reef; loss $100,000.

Unidentified vessel wrecked on rocks at Angus Point, Isle Royale, Lake Superior.

Among the frail craft jeopardized but saved was the Santa Maria, a reproduction of Columbus' caravel, which was bound from Chicago to San Francisco. It was driven into a mud bank near Erie.

The vessels reported aground with slight or no damage numbered more than thirty.

Judge Nunn Very Ill.

Judge T. J. Nunn as his many friends here will regret to learn, has been removed from Frankfort, where he is a member of the court of appeals to his home at Marion, Crittenden county quite ill. Judge Nunn has been in more or less bad health for a number of years, and lately, it would seem, has been growing worse.

There is no more popular man in Western Kentucky than Judge Nunn, and any report that he is not in good health will grieve all of his acquaintances. If the report which reached the News-Democrat is correct, he is in rather a precarious condition.—Paducah News-Democrat.

GOOD OIL STRIKE ON ALLEN FARM

Drill Penetrates Sand at Depth of 1928 Feet.

The well on Walter Allen's farm five miles North East of Hartford, which is being drilled by Marsh Bros., has a fine showing of oil at a depth of 1928 feet, and operations are suspended until the owners can arrive to see it "drilled in." Twenty-eight feet of sand was penetrated and the drillers pronounce it the finest looking sand yet found in the field. There seems to be no doubt but that a fine well will be brought in in a few feet. This is on the North from the Carter and Snell wells. It will therefore give great impetus to the oil activities here and indicates more than ever a great field in Ohio county.

The well near Olaton is expected in within a few days.

Work is progressing in a satisfactory manner at the Sarvis Hill well beyond Beda.

Agreement Reached.

The district committee of the Consolidated Tobacco Growers Association, which convened in Owensboro on Tuesday morning, and remained in session during the entire day discussing the constitution and bylaws of the association, concluded its work just before the noon hour Wednesday.

An agreement was finally reached on the constitution and bylaws which will be presented to the Henderson department in district caucus, where a joint agreement will be reached. Just as soon as this has been accomplished, the constitution and by-laws will be decided on at the joint meeting of the Consolidated Tobacco Growers association throughout the entire district for their approval or rejection. This organization is composed of about 10 counties embracing the Henderson and Green River districts.

The manner of submitting the constitution and bylaws to the growers will be decided on at the joint meeting to be held in Henderson, due notice of which will be given the members.

At the executive meeting held in the city hall on Tuesday afternoon, there was a large number of farmers who could not enter the meeting because of their inability to give the password. An invitation was extended to those so desiring, to pay their dues and have their names enrolled as members. It is said that nearly 100 persons took advantage of the opportunity and joined the new movement.

IN SENATE

Democrats Disagree on Currency Measure.

Hitchcock Declares He Will Not Be Bound By Caucus To Please President.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The administration decision to throw the pending currency bill before the conference of senate Democrats resulted in an outburst in the senate floor today. Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, who has voted as "anti-administration" throughout the deliberations declared on the floor that he would not change his convictions even to meet the president's view which would prevent his voting his convictions. Senator Reed of Missouri declared that the time has not come to give up hope for a committee agreement and urged that non-partisan deliberations in the committee continue. The committee made two ineffectual attempts to get down to work today. Another attempt will be made tomorrow to get the committee together on the bill, but little success is expected to attend the effort.

"I would not permit myself to be bound by the decisions of a secret caucus on an important matter of legislation like this," declared Mr. Hitchcock. "I am assured by a number of senators on this side that they are equally opposed to a secret legislative proceeding. The senate is the proper place to discuss this bill."

Mr. Hitchcock spoke of "outside influences" brought upon the committee when its members were told the president could not accept the decision of the majority.

"I feel that when the senate refers to a committee an important bill of this character the senate is entitled to have members of the committee examine it carefully and vote according to their own convictions and beliefs."

Senator Kern, chairman of the Democratic caucus, replied to Senator Hitchcock, declaring it was not proposed to hold a binding caucus nor to vote on the currency bill in the conference.

Results Not Entirely Satisfactory.

Rosine, Ky., Nov. 11.—Editor Republican—With pleasure and regret I bow to the will of the voters of Ohio county Nov. 4, 1913. With much pleasure I received the news of the success of our candidates, who were elected, but was truly hurt for those of our ticket who went down in defeat. Am frank to say each candidate of the Republican party was opposed by a man in every way qualified and a gentleman well worthy the confidence placed in him by the voters of Ohio county. Will say I am only too proud of the good showing made by a combination of the two factions of the old time Republicans in Ohio county. Now in my humble opinion, three weeks before the election our county would have elected a full Democratic ticket, but things got so warm by the enthusiasm shown by the Democrats laughing and talking about the split in our ranks caused many a hard heart to melt, and as things began to show signs of a Democratic victory, it caused their hearts to be kneaded together, and in ten days more we could have elected our entire ticket by a good majority.

I wish the Democrats all good luck, the good Lord has ever intended for them to have, and rejoice over their men just elected, for they have always fought a good fight and only lost because they failed to rally to the rooster. Those brave old chicks knew their food was always kept in the barn, an image of the log cabin.

With love and friendship to all and malice toward none, I am always ready to accept a victory or bow to a defeat.

THE EMBARGO

Mexican Rebels Could Get Arms From Us.

Ministers From Central American States Kept Informed by Secretary of State Bryan.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Developments in the Mexican situation here today tended to emphasize the Washington government's purpose to refuse to recognize any acts of the new Mexican congress, and developed the fact that the president is seriously considering permitting the exportation of arms to all the factions in Mexico.

Secretary Bryan summoned the ministers from the five Central American countries, and outlined to them what has been done by the United States in the diplomatic exchanges with Huerta government. He later announced he had been in communication with diplomatic representatives of the European powers and informed them of the steps the United States had taken so far.

It is reported that some of these diplomats had transmitted long dispatches to their home governments describing the situation as approaching closer to a complete break in the relations between the United States and Mexico, than at any time since the Mexican problem began to be troublesome.

Death of Mrs. W. H. Moore.

After a lingering illness Mrs. Eliza Ellen Moore, wife of W. H. Moore, died at her home in Hartford last Friday morning. Impressive funeral services were conducted at the Christian church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock by her pastor, Eld. W. B. Wright assisted by Revs. Napier and Bennett of the Methodist church, after which the interment took place at Oakwood cemetery. The pall bearers were: Jas. H. Williams, W. E. Ellis, W. P. Foreman, R. R. Riley, Rowan Holbrook and R. E. Lee Simmerman. Mrs. Moore was a devout Christian, a devoted mother and loving wife. She will be greatly missed in our community.

The Cost of Carelessness.

A boy was killed a few days ago while hunting with his father. A gun left, cocked, against a fence was the direct cause of the disaster. It was the cost of carelessness.

In Massachusetts a fatal railroad wreck resulted in the death of 50 or more people. A broken rail, overlooked by the trackwalker, was the careless cause of this accident.

A cigarette carelessly thrown in a compartment filled with perishable freight caused the spectacular burning of the Volturo.

The cost of carelessness cannot be estimated.

Of especial interest during the hunting season is the ultimate report of disasters and the accompanying admission that all have been due to carelessness.

The gun is not necessarily dangerous. The careful hunter rarely has an accident. Carefully handled, there need be no fear. When in the excitement of the hunt men lose their head an accident is usually the result. Sitting on a fence with his gun between his legs, a well-known Memphian at the opening of the season lost two fingers. A still sadder instance may be cited of the recent case of a man and his wife hunting from a boat on Horn Lake. The woman was paddling with her back turned. There was a gun report and her husband lay with his life's blood ebbing out in the bottom of the boat. He never regained consciousness, and the distressed wife had to carry his body ashore. It was found that he had probably been leaning over the barrel of the gun, forgetting that it was cocked. Here one simple act of carelessness caused the loss of a life.

Those who expect to go hunting this season should give more attention to the dangers which, with a little care, can be easily avoided. Hundreds of accidents will be reported during the coming season. It has scarcely begun. Too many hunters "out with a contemptuous shrug of the shoulders and say that they require no advice; that they are old heads at the game and have no cause to worry.

The act of carelessness of the most experienced may cause the death of a dear friend. It may cause his own death. Who can say? No one can know.

In self-protection against the blunders of others and the possible lapse of their own caution every hunter should endeavor at all times to promote the habit of constant caution in the hunting field.

Former Louisville Mayor Dead.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 11.—Former Mayor Paul Booker Reed died yesterday morning at McCloud, Alberta, in Canada, after an illness of some months. Mr. Reed, who was formerly one of the wealthiest residents of this city had been for some years a ranchman in Canada. He was sixty-seven years old.

He was a native of Frankfort and a member of one of the oldest families of Kentucky. At the outbreak of the war between the states, Mr. Reed then a student at Old Center college, joined the Confederate army. At the close of the war he finished his studies in medicine and afterward studied in Europe. He later returned to Europe to make his home.

BIG STEEL STEAMER OVERTURNS IN LAKE

It is Believed Cargo of Iron Ore Shifted During Great Storm.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 11.—A large steel freighter, overturned, was found floating in Lake Huron today, about eight miles northeast of Port Huron. Captain Reid of the wrecking crew which located her, arrived here and said her name had not been learned when he left the scene. It is believed she was abandoned during the terrific gale which swept the lake yesterday.

Captain Reid said a heavy sea was running when the freighter was found and there was no distinguishing mark to identify her. There are a number of large steel boats similar in appearance to the derelict, plying the lakes, and the wrecking company had not been notified that any boat which had not been located had been abandoned. Marine men think the boat may be an ore carrier which became uncontrollable in the storm, and shifted her cargo.

Capt. Reid returned to the scene of the discovery with a wrecking tug today. He did not know whether it would be possible to tow the wreck to the local harbor.

Killing in Hancock.

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 12.—John Van Lahrr, 50, a farmer, was shot and killed at Waitman, Hancock Co., this afternoon, and George Watson, 70, is accused of the crime. Van Lahrr was a tenant on Watson's farm and the men had a dispute over a load of corn.

A witness to the killing says that Van Lahrr was riding along the road with his 10-year-old boy at his side when Watson halted him and fired two shots from a revolver. Van Lahrr fell from the wagon and was dead when his wife, who heard the shots, reached his side.

Watson, who is the Town Marshal at Lewisport, alleges that he shot in self-defense. The men had trouble several weeks ago, and it is said that Van Lahrr made an attack on Watson. Watson is under guard at Lewisport.

Thanks.

To all the good people of Ohio county who so abundantly honored me on November the 4th by electing me to the office of County Judge, I can only say "Thank you." I wish I knew some more expressive word, but I do not, so again, I thank you. Towards my opponent, Mr. Heavrin, and his friends, I entertain naught but the kindest feeling and good wishes.

To all the people of Ohio county—the best old county full of the best people on the earth—I can say that I and all the other county officials need your friendship, sympathy and good counsel, that we may best attend to our affairs and yours to the best interests of all. Again I thank you. JNO. B. WILSON.

MOTHER KILLS

HER CHILD

Afterwards Turns Gun Upon Herself.

Crazed By News of Death of Her Husband—B. L. Banks.

Richmond, Ky., November 11.—Mrs. Benjamin L. Banks, one of the most prominent women in Kentucky, today shot and killed her only child, a boy twelve years of age, and then blew out her own brains, at her home upon receipt of the news announcing the sudden death of pneumonia of her husband in Adair county. Mrs. Banks was formerly the secretary of the state Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. Banks had taken the sudden death of her husband very calmly, apparently. Late last night neighbors and friends who were at her home repaired to another part of the house that Mrs. Banks and the only child might get some sleep. Mrs. Banks handed her brother some private papers of her husband's and asked him to read them over. He went down stairs to do so. Shortly afterwards a noise like chairs turning over attracted him to his sister's room. He found the door locked. He broke it open and found the mother lying across her son in bed. The child was dead. Mrs. Banks breathed only a few minutes.

The body of Mr. Banks will be buried at his parents' home in Adair county, while the mother and son will be buried here. A brother, George Banks, of Texas, is expected here. Ben Banks was one of the best known business men in this city. He was a partner of the clothing firm of Covington & Banks.

Members Co. H. Attention.

Company H's rifle range will be open Friday and Saturday Nov. 21 and 22. All members of the company who have not previously qualified on the range for this year are directed to report at the range on the above dates for practice. The Dupont Powder Co., has given to the state a trophy to be awarded to the company in Kentucky having the highest figure of merit at rifle practice and if those members who have not yet fired over the range, will avail themselves of the opportunity on the above dates this company will have a splendid chance to win the trophy.

Arrangements are being made to take all who make 120 or more over the marksman's course at Earlington, Ky., about Nov. — in order to shoot over the range at that place. Members who want to take this trip should also practice on the range here, on dates mentioned. This will likely be the last practice work for the season as the "target year" ends Nov. 30.

Palo.

Nov. 13.—Mrs. S. F. Ezell, Cane Ford, is spending the winter with her son, W. L. White.

Mr. Jim Smith of Palo has rented the Duke farm near Dukehurst and will move in the near future.

Mr. Lawrence Bunker's little girl happened to a very bad accident last Friday when she fell off a load of corn and the wagon wheel ran over her breast.

Mr. W. S. White and wife went to Dukehurst last Saturday.

Mr. Lon Williams and wife went to Sunnydale last Saturday shopping.

Mr. J. B. King, of Henderson, was in our midst last week.

Mrs. Jane Maden is on the sick list this week.

Mrs. Kate Duke is very low at this writing.

Mrs. Mary White and son, Lester, went to Hartford last Monday.

Mr. Clarence Midkiff, who has been working for Mr. Lon Williams, returned home, near Magan, last Saturday.

PIDGIN ENGLISH.

Language Used in Shops and Homes in Chinese Ports.

In Shanghai in all shops one finds Chinese familiar with English, but often using much pidgin English. "Pidgin" is supposed to be derived from several changes on the word "business," which was first shortened to "busin," then through the form of "pishin" and finally became "pidgin." Pidgin English is the language used in trade and households in the ports of China, where the Chinese and foreigners deal with one another. It is similar in its origin to the mixture of languages known as Lingua-Franca in the Levant and in other parts of the Mediterranean. It is a direct translation of Chinese into English and strictly idiomatic. For instance, they say, "That book, pay my," instead of "Give me the book."

The Chinese tailors speak fluently in this odd English. An American lady went to a Chinese tailor in Shanghai to see him regarding putting feather interlining in a muff. The tailor seemed a trifle dazed as to what she wanted and said, "B'long allo same chicken fur?" He wanted to prove his intention of treating his customer right and told her, "My b'long allo same you, you b'long allo same my—b'long my velly good friend," and later, wishing to ask after one of the lady's daughters, remarked, "Miss A. have cathee master?" When this was said China had not come out for woman's suffrage.—Amy W. Hotchkiss in National Magazine.

ELIZABETH ISLAND.

Its Curious Little Colony of Zoological Total Abstinents.

Recent investigations on the little known and rarely visited Henderson or Elizabeth Island have led to the discovery of a complete and curious little colony of zoological total abstinents.

The island, which is uninhabited, is situated about 120 miles northeast of Pitcairn island—its sufficiently out of the way, but famous as the home of the descendants of the mutineers of the Bounty.

There is no water on it, not even a swamp, and it is only six miles long, yet it harbors quite a menagerie—a kind of rat, a lizard, described as very abundant, and no fewer than four kinds of birds, all peculiar to the island. These are a fruit pigeon, a lorikeet or honey eating parakeet, a little rail or crane and a reed warbler.

The strange thing about the inmates of this curious little natural aviary of coral rock, surrounded by waves instead of wires, is that two of its inmates are birds, one especially associated with fresh water—the rail and the warbler. These, like the rest, must do without drinking unless the dew can stake their thirst or they have acquired toleration for sea water as a beverage.—Argonaut.

Flight of a Great Nebula.

One of the most striking spectacles revealed by telescopes is that of the great nebula in Orion. In the complexity of its glowing streams, spirals and strangely shaped masses, intercepted by yawning black gaps and sprinkled over with stars arranged in suggestive groups and lines, it has few rivals in the heavens. The impression of astonishment made by the sight of this nebula is heightened by knowledge of its enormous size. The entire solar system would appear as a tiny speck beside it. Yet this tremendous aggregation of nebulous clouds and starry swarms has been proved by the researches of the astronomers to be flying away from the earth and the sun at the rate of eleven miles in every second. But so vast is its distance that 100 years reveal no visual effects of the great nebula's swift retreat.

Not Really Lost.

Bertie's sister, who is five years older than Bertie, is trying to teach him to take care of his books. The other day she could not find "Robinson Crusoe" on the nursery bookshelf.

"Where is it?" she asked. "I haven't seen it for several days. What have you done with it?"

"I know where it is," said Bertie, trying to speak with assurance.

"Well, where?"

"Why, it's only lost a little," he faltered; "kinder in the barn, or round outdoors, some'eres; p'raps up garret, or behind the woodpile, I guess!"—Youth's Companion.

A Faulty Statue.

READS TWO WAYS.

Punctuate This Letter and Get Widely Different Meanings.

A letter, so constructed without punctuation that it can be read in a number of different ways, giving directly opposite meanings, was printed in an Indiana newspaper in 1855. The letter follows:

"He is an old experienced man in vice and wickedness he is never found opposing the works of iniquity he takes delight in the downfall of the neighborhood he never rejoices in the prosperity of any of his fellow creatures he is always ready to assist in destroying the peace of society he takes no pleasure in serving the Lord he is uncommonly diligent in sowing discord among his friends and acquaintances he takes no pride in laboring to promote the cause of Christianity he has not been negligent in endeavoring to stigmatize all public teachers he makes no exertions to subdue his evil passions he tries hard to build up Satan's kingdom he lends no aid to the support of the gospel among the heathen he contributes largely to the evil adversary he pays no attention to good advice he gives great heed to the devil he will never go to heaven he must go where he will receive his just recompense of reward."—Indianapolis News.

A LOFTY GYMNASIUM.

Fine Exercise in the Great Dome of the National Capitol.

It would not be suspected that the great dome of the capitol could be made a gymnasium, but it is used by not a few people in Washington, and especially by some of the employees of the capitol, for purposes of exercises and the like.

Its chief apparatus in that line is the many winding steps to the top of the lantern—287 feet in the air. You go round and round and round and climb and climb. That sort of thing makes for firm muscles and is said to be the best anti-fat cure to be had anywhere, and especially in Washington. You can lose ten pounds in one trip.

The thing is done at record speed, however. It is not a slow going up and a slow going down, although with other people this seems most ample labor, but doing the thing in five minutes and less. It is a rush up and a rush down.

People who climb the stairs for sight-seeing purposes are astonished to see the Mercuries rush in the ascent or the descent, but of course they do not know what it is all done for.—New York Sun.

Wanted a Haunted House.

The following curious letter was recently received by a house renting agency in London:

"Have you a reputed haunted house on your books? I am not afraid of ghosts. I do not as a matter of course believe in their existence, and I am willing to live in a house for a long or short term by arrangement, of course rent free. Should there be no ghost, then, if you wish it, I shall be willing to testify on oath to the fact. But should I see an apparition I will keep the matter secret and only acquaint you with the circumstances. I will pledge myself not to pander to local gossip. I have a small income on which I can subsist. My sole object in thus applying to you is to be allowed to live in a place in which I do not need to pay any rent."

The inquirer was informed that the firm had no haunted houses on its list, but would inform him when it had.

Quaint Old English Ceremony.

On the last day of each October the city solicitor of London, with an assistant, attends upon the royal remembrancer, when by proclamation "the tenants and occupiers of a piece of waste ground called the moors, in the county of Salop," are commanded to "come forth and do your service upon pain and peril that shall fall thereon." The solicitor chops in halves two fagots, one with a hatchet and the other with a bill hook. Afterward comes the summons to the tenants, etc., of "a certain tenement with a forge" in the strand and the payment of six horse-shoes, with sixty-one shoe nails, by the solicitor. This forge has long ceased to be, and the same shoes and nails are used year after year, the shoes being at least two centuries old.

Salty Savored Speech.

The natives of the coast town down east discuss every phase of life or death in terms of the sea.

A fisherman had recently laid his wife, Della, to rest in the village cemetery. He visited the spot a few days afterward with the undertaker, and found another newly made grave directly behind that of his wife. Regarding it curiously, he said to the undertaker:

"Wal, s'r, St. who's that buried thar astarn o' Dele?"—Youth's Companion.

Talleyrand and Josephine. Talleyrand, the notorious French statesman, friend of Napoleon and ambassador at the English court, was designed for a military career, but an accident, when one year old, rendered him a cripple for life. His cunning cleverness, political penetration, adroit intrigues and ingenious subterfuges were vehemently opposed by the emperor's wife, Josephine, who energetically denounced him as a "cursed cripple."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Paris and Young Women.

According to the Paris correspondent of the Living Church, there are few cities which make so good a provision for the protection and care of young women coming there for work or study. He says: "Strangers who come to Paris find a large number of institutions with open, hospitable doors. For the French-speaking people there is 'L'Ami de la Jeune Fille,' in particular, where Catholics and Protestants unite in a great work. Lists of houses, of pensions, of restaurants, respectable and inexpensive, under the surveillance of this society, are posted up at many church doors, at some railway stations and elsewhere throughout the city.

"L'Union Chretienne des Jeunes Gens" is a work along somewhat similar lines for young men. For English-speaking girls there is the Girls' Friendly Society, Miss Leigh's home, the Christian Association and several admirable American homes and clubs.

None of these would ever let a girl take a situation without due inquiry; all are glad to be appealed to.

Wonderful Human Stomach.

The human stomach as diagrammed in the encyclopedia resembles the map of South America, and as a potentiality exercises the revolutionary characteristics of that realm. It varies in size; in youth being longer than thick, and reaching from the chin to the heels; in ripe maturity being thicker than long, and reaching from the back two feet beyond the natural plumb line.—American Magazine.

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by all dealers.

Fourth River 123

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14.

If the cost of living is going down, it is on the quiet.

A government by the few is the kind Huerta believes in.

So far the income tax gatherer has not collected on us.

Will the Pankhurst reception be remembered as the great frost of 1913?

That currency bill has about slithered down to an amendment, to an amendment.

What has become of Father McCrory's Senatorial boom? Is it dipping sand?

Tammany has been killed before. It has many lives and is sure to come back.

A. O. Stanley is winning the senatorial nomination hands down—in Washington city.

It is said the latest is a Woodrow Wilson apple. Be careful—it may turn to a lemon.

Felix Diaz made a better showing running for his life than he did for the Mexican presidency.

On Tuesday, Nov. 4, Wood Axton got about as near the Mayoralty of Louisville as he will ever get.

Now, let the opposition to the Democratic machine in Louisville and Jefferson county get together.

We fear the Herald is not half as anxious to look at the books as it pretended to be before the election.

Mexico is causing lots of bother, but as long as she is not doing anything to us why should we fight her?

How can anyone endorse President Wilson's Mexican policy when we don't know a "bloomin'" thing about what it is?

We can at least be thankful that living has only advanced four per cent under the present Democratic administration.

The fact remains that the Democrats could not have carried Massachusetts or New Jersey with the Republicans and Progressives united.

That Sulzer impeachment struck Murphy, between the eyes on election day. Tammany has never been successful in running politics outside the city of New York.

The price of meat and flour seem about the same, and in New York eggs have gone up to seventy-five cents per dozen. Can it be possible that the protective tariff was keeping prices down?

Both Amendments to the Constitution carried in Ohio county. The vote for No. 1, being for working convicts on public highways, 856, against 369. For tax amendment, 798, against 357.

Listen for the wall of the Evening Post, when the Democratic Louisville machine steals Jefferson county away from Beckham to the tune of 10,000, or more, in next year's primary. It is coming.

The Hartford Herald still has the question open as to whether the Bull Moose "rid" the Elephant or the Elephant "rid" the Bull Moose, but they both "rid" its candidates for Sheriff, Co. Attorney, Clerk, Representative and Jailer. To say nothing of six candidates for Magistrate.

The Hartford Herald should be pleased with the coming county administration. You see, Judge Wilson can show it the books of the Fiscal court and the Fiscal court can show it Judge Wilson's books. The only trouble will be taking up so much of the Editor's time, "looking at the books."

If half of the reports are to be believed Commonwealth Attorney Ringo will have lots of work to do when the next grand jury meets in Ohio county, looking after vote buyers and vote sellers. Some of the work may be embarrassing to him, in a political way also. That is if he meant what he said in his speech at the court house last court.

Out in California a judge has decided that women cannot sit on juries, notwithstanding the fact that they have been granted the right of suffrage. Why not? "Hubby" could look after the jury during her absence on the jury as well as while she attends political meetings and visits the voting booth.

In some states the Progressives ran second and in others the Republicans took that position, but it all reminds us that only by getting together can the Democrats be given second place. If some of us had not advocated getting together in Ohio county last spring, no Republican or Progressive would have been elected at the recent election.

Unlucky Time For Free-Traders

State Food Commissioner Barnard gives it as his opinion that the high cost of living will soon begin to soar and no telling when the limit will be reached. "Meats, especially pork, are going to the ceiling," says the Democratic prophet. Christmas storage eggs will be selling at five cents apiece and scarce at that. "It will be astonishing how high fruit will go before spring," sez he. Good heavens! and the Democratic Tariff bill, which according to every Democratic orator and newspaper was going to reduce the high cost of living, just going into effect!—Rockville (Ind.) Republican.

Something the Matter.

That portion of the press which is not frankly partisan, along with innumerable business men and others not active in politics, has discovered that the Democratic party has something the matter with it. The tariff bill is not lowering the cost of living and shows no signs of stimulating industries. The income tax has the country by the ears, both the "haves" and the "have nots." Mr. sundry civil bill and his surrender to the spoils system in the urgent deficiency act have offended the political purists. The 5 per cent shipping preferential, dropped like a hot potato, is found to be a fake remedy for the merchant marine. The State Department's diplomacy moves the world to mirth and the application of "Jonny" Lind cake and grape juice to the Mexican situation gives pain. There are some editors tactless enough to sig for Taft and others for T. R., and still others for Cleveland, but as to Wilson they are as chilly as a White House greeting.

Which is the bad? As for many ordinary Republicans of yesterday, the administration is fully up to Republican expectations. It is the best the Democratic party has given us since Cleveland's day.—Pittsburgh Times.

Tillman's Confusion.

Many years ago Ben Tillman cussed his way into office by cussing negroes, and now in his old age his act turns on him as a Frankenstein.

In dealing with negroes in the commission of crime, Tillman said that on some occasions he would send the constitution to hell and back.

Mr. Tillman's methods became popular and his anti-negro crusade along with an effort to free the common white people of South Carolina from a self-constituted oligarchy of men who thought they were better than anybody else, but who nobody else thought were any better, swept him into the governor's chair and into the United States Senate.

Mr. Tillman had many imitators; the first man to occupy a field where anti-negro talk had not been indulged in by politicians running for office usually secured large results.

Now comes Cole Blaise, Governor of South Carolina, a-running for the United States Senate. The ardent followers of Tillman and the members of the old order made common cause against Blaise, but they could not defeat him for re-election as governor.

Blaise in his calmest moments is more reckless of speech and louder in denunciation of men and things he does not like than ever was Tillman when worked up to fever heat.

Blaise has shocked audiences, and he rejoices to send the word back home to the boys, because he knows it will make them glad. The other day in Washington he announced that he would let the constitution go to hell and back if certain acts transpired in his vicinage. Whereupon Senator Tillman gravely announced that Cole Blaise had stolen his thunder, had taken his own livch and had plagiarized his best political maxims.

Tillman claimed that he was the author 20 years ago of this constitution and hell expression, and he thinks it most unfair in Blaise to take it up and use it as a vote getter.

Mr. Tillman may not approve Gov. Blaise, but Mr. Tillman more than any other man in this country is responsible for those things in Gov. Blaise which are objectionable to a great many people.

WHAT THE AMERICAN FARMER GETS

Canadian Prices Adjusted to Meet Competition with Wheat, Eggs and Butter Here.

And where does the farmer come in?

Already on the border states along the Canadian boundary, prices of farm produce are advanced to meet American prices, or just enough lower to let them in over here without any reduction of price to the consumer. So much live stock is being shipped from Canada to the United States that Canadian papers express a fear of meat famine.

Have you noted any reduction in the price of meats to the American consumer by throwing open our markets to Canadian competition?

In the New York Journal of Commerce, the other day, we are told of arrangements perfected for large shipments of bran from Argentina at $2.50 per ton below current market quotations. Bran is a by-product of wheat, and cheaper bran means, of course, cheaper wheat. Also a cargo of Argentine corn en route to be sold at one cent a bushel below the price for American corn. Also, of a big business in Canadian oats, of which 1,500,000 bushels in bond to be released for delivery when reduced tariff goes into effect, and to be put on the market a little cheaper than at present prices.

In the New York Commercial last week, it is stated that in anticipation of the free entry of eggs and the reduction of duty on butter in the new Tariff law, speculators in these products, according to members of the trade in New York, have bought freely in Denmark, Siberia and the Argentine Republic. It is said that purchases and shipments on consignment from Siberia cover a total of 100,000 cases, each containing 150 pounds. There are some 4,000 boxes of butter now in transit from the River Plate, Argentina, and several hundred packages are reported in transit from Denmark. The Commercial adds:

"The free entry of eggs is likely to cause shippers on the other side in Belgium and Germany to try our markets during the winter season. These markets are lightly stocked and the product shows no profit at the moment. Next season there is bound to be a big importation."

So the American farmer "gets it" from all directions. Every country on earth is invited to come into his own market and undersell him. What will he do about it, where does he benefit by competing with the open markets of the world in his own home market?

Blunder in Tariff Law.

That section of the new Tariff law providing for a 5 per cent discount in duties on goods imported in American bottoms was the subject of prolonged discussion by the Conference Committee, which tried to bring it within the letter of our treaties by adding to the paragraph that "nothing in this subsection shall be so construed as to abrogate or in any manner impair or affect the provisions of any treaty concluded between the United States and any foreign nation."

It is humiliating that the conferences were so lacking in perspicacity that the meaning of these words escaped them. It has finally dawned on the President and his advisers that the effect of this concealed subsidy would be a further reduction of 5 per cent on practically all imports which, in addition to the radical cuts already made, would so unexpectedly change industrial conditions and hamper American manufacturers that commercial disorganization might ensue, to say nothing of the decrease in revenues, concerning which the figuring has already been so close.

The provision was inexcusable from the beginning. It sought to establish a subsidy and so erubillitate the merchant arine. The Democracy has fought subsidies consistently for many years. It had no mandate from the people to reverse it by indirection. Historically, therefore, Delphia Public Ledger, the provision was dishonest.—Phila-

The Problem of Meat.

All the world is worried about meat supplies for the future, and with reason. Argentina and Australia, if they divert some of their meats to this country, will merely create a vacuum in Europe. Yet of all countries the United States has best reason to hope supplies may increase with the demand. Already cattle are coming from Canadian ranges following the removal of tariff duties. Canada will for a long time be able to supply the range stock that has largely disappeared from our own country farther west by reason of the cutting up and fencing of the ranges. The other states of Mexico constitute as fine a cattle range as there is in the world. With safe government fostered—and it surely will be one day—that section would be another Texas to cattle supplies. May be a couple of Texases.—New York Press.

SOCIALIST VOTE.

The following is the total Socialist vote cast in Ohio county at the recent county election:
Representative—A. E. Chapman 368
County Judge—John Shultz 284
County Attorney—John T. Rose 281
County Clerk—R. A. Davis 280
Sheriff—E. G. Austin 275
Jailer—A. T. Davis 266
Assessor—T. J. Phelps 268
There was no Socialist candidate for County School Superintendent.

A Government Secret.

A Washington dispatch reports that Secretary Houston is keeping the "batting averages" of every one of the weather forecasters, with the idea of securing scientific efficiency in weather making. The "percentage of verification," as it is called, is, however, one of the darkest secrets of the government and is kept under lock and key by two officials charged with its protection from prying eyes. When you come to think of it this is an admirable precaution, and one that is likely forever to prohibit the publication of the averages. If the standing of the forecasters was made public there would be such a clamor from every station for the Ty Cobb of the weather bureau that would disrupt the service and menace the administration.

The country will, therefore, have to struggle along without this official record and keep its own tab on its forecasters. After making allowances for the not-to-be-foreseen vagaries of the weather factors the judicial temperament must conclude that the weather men are doing the very best they can and that on the whole the percentage of verification is remarkably high. A wider public knowledge of the official definition of the forecast phrases would confirm this. "Fair," for instance, does not necessarily mean a cloudless sky, it means no rain or snow.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Facts About Mexico.

It is surprising that Mexico, so long under disturbed conditions, has been able to avert a money stringency. The country has been in confusion for more than two years, and yet all of that time the party between gold and silver has been maintained, foreign exchange has been bought and sold and all the channels of banking have been undisturbed.
Huerta received his hardest blow not from the United States, but from the failure of money to fetch its face value. With a depleted treasury and a falling currency, Huerta is now truly in a bay way. He boasts of an ability to call into the field an army of 500,000 men. If the Huerta government is broke he cannot command the solid support for any length of time of 50,000 men. One may watch now for rapid changes in the Mexican situation. It is surprising that the money party in Mexico did remain stable. The fact is a tribute to the Mexican financial and banking system. The United States, torn for two years as has been Mexico, would have been swept over and again by financial prices. If we are compelled to intervene in Mexico to restore order we might bring back from Mexico its banking system and apply it in this country. At least our financial experts might learn something from what has been done in the republic since it went to a gold basis. The credit of Mexico's solid banking system is due to Limantour, who for many years was chief of the financial department of the republic under the rule of Diaz and later was vice president. Mexico, however, in war or in peace, is a country of enormous trade. Mexico's foreign trade last year was valued at $253,000,000 in United States currency, and this colossal figure was reached in spite of the closing of many mines and the stoppage of railroads. The imports into Mexico during 1912 were $98,000,000 and the exports $160,000,000. Mexico received from the United States last year $47,000,000 worth of goods and exported to our country $124,000,000. These exports consisted of gold, silver and other ores to the amount of $100,000,000. Vegetable products to the amount of $50,000,000 were exported and animal and manufactured products amounted to about $10,000,000. Even during the civil war progress has been made in Mexico, for it

Old Papers.

We have recently been furnished by Mr. S. W. Tichenor, Centertown, copies of the Louisville Journal dated 1848 and '49 and the Western Recorder of 1858, 1869 and 1872. Also copy of the Tennessee Baptist of 1858 and the Louisville Commercial, 1872. The Journal in 1848 was published by Prentice and Weissinger and was a strong Whig paper supporting Gen. Taylor for president and Crittenden for governor of Kentucky. It is interesting to delve into these old papers of the past published long before we were born, and dealing with vital questions then, but long since settled by the American people either by the sword or at the ballot box. Mr. Tichenor has our thanks for this real treat. The papers are exceedingly well preserved.

Other Nations Do Our Carrying.

For many years there has been insistent demand that legislation "do something for the American merchant marine." The demand is a proper and justifiable one. It is inexcusable that in an era when foreign commerce is constantly increasing in importance to all the great countries the United States should be dependent on foreign bottoms, schedules, rates, routes and conditions for opportunity to market our goods. For commercial and also for naval reasons, it is important that our merchant marine be restored to a position of consequence on the seas.

Right or wrong, there is a persistent antagonism to subsidies for this purpose. It is needless now to discuss the reasonableness of this antagonism. The fact stands that subsidy legislation has been repeatedly defeated under Republican administration and that it has less chance by far under Democratic. As well argue against the reasonableness of the force of gravity as refuse to recognize this situation.

The alternative to subsidy is discriminating duties on imports, by which American bottoms will earn a privilege at the custom houses sufficient to encourage shipment in them. That is the proposal of the Underwood Tariff measure, and Mr. Underwood comes forward with a frank defense of it. He resents the assumption that the provision was put into the law by mischance or through ignorance. Nothing of the sort. It is there because Congress wanted it there, knowing and fully realizing what it meant.

Foreign countries have represented that under existing trade treaties we are estopped from discriminating against them in this wise. Quite so, replies Mr. Underwood; but treaties that bind us to such a position ought to be done away with. That is a detail of business for the State Department to be observed while they continue in force, but the law means that they are to be got rid of as fast as possible by the order and regular processes of negotiation and diplomatic exchange.

Neither Mr. Underwood nor anybody else wants trade wars; but if the avoidance of trade wars is to be purchased by the permanent acceptance of a policy that makes an end to all chance for creating a merchant marine, then it is high time that the facts were understood in their fullest significance.

To enforce the 5 per cent discrimination at once, while these treaties are in force, would doubtless be a violation of treaty obligation. That would justify reprisals; but assuredly there is no reason why this Government may not indicate its purpose and wish to be done with that kind of treaties.

Other nations are doing our carrying for us, largely because they have subsidized and otherwise encouraged their shipping industries, while we have neglected ours. They will protest with all vigor against losing their profitable privilege. But they are getting enough advantage in other directions from the new Tariff quite to compensate them for what they might lose by abrogation of the ship conventions. New York Press.

WINNING CHRIST, LOSING ALL ELSE

The Prize of All Eternity God
Is Now Offering.

What Winning Christ Means—It Signifies More Than a Reformation of Life and a Pursuit of Righteousness. More Than Merely Believing in Jesus as Our Savior—It is Preceded by a Devotion or Consecration of Our All to God—And God's Acceptance of Our Consecration—Then the Race Begins—Its Outcome Will Determine Whether or Not We Win Christ—St. Paul an Exemplar—Saints From Every Nation and Denomination Winners—Their Matchless Rewards.

November 9.—Pastor Russell gave two addresses here today. We report one, from the text, "Yea, doubtless, I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord. . . . that I may win Christ."—Philippians 3:8.

The Pastor said that even saintly Christians seem but imperfectly to grasp the New Testament teachings respecting membership in the Body of Christ. Some assume that it is to be had on a basis of favoritism, and trust to be of the Elect. Others vaguely hope that they belong to the right Church and will attain whatever the others get. Errors of the Dark Ages absorbed in childhood have been responsible for these vagaries and for our general neglect of proper Bible study.

Conversion Not Winning Christ.

What is ordinarily termed conversion is not what St. Paul refers to as "winning Christ." Conversion signifies "a turning about." It implies a change from a wrong course to the right one. The wrong course is the sinful one, which brings injury and injustice on others. Conversion is merely the operation of a sane mind in turning about from things recognized to be injurious. Many are converted without real knowledge of Christ's Gospel. They merely knew that they were going in the wrong direction, and turned about to take the proper course. Only strong characters can successfully pursue a right course, and these are in the minority. But whether strong or weak characters, great aid will be experienced from a knowledge of Christ's work and teachings.

"Present Your Bodies"—Sacrifices.

The Pastor then showed how one might reform his life, have knowledge of the future life secured by Jesus' death, and of the fact that we reap what we sow, and yet not be a Christian, in the Bible sense. Reformatory steps are necessary, however, before anything further can be attained. Next the speaker discussed Christianity from the Bible standpoint. The Scriptures assure us that a Christian is a New Creature—not merely a civilized person. To such, "old things have passed away; all things have become new." Old ambitions and prospects, however honorable and good, give place to new ones. This is what the Apostle had in mind in our text.

What Winning Christ Means.

The Pastor then briefly outlined the Gospel, an appreciation of which is necessary to the understanding of our text. The Divine Plan for human recovery from sin and death God first declared to Abraham: "In thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed."—Galatians 3:8.

Later on, God revealed the fact that Abraham's Seed would constitute a Kingdom class to rule all nations for their uplift. When Israel, by failing to keep the Law, failed to prove itself the holy nation, God declared that He would send a special Messenger of the Covenant, through whom the holy nation would be established.

At His First Advent, our Lord laid the foundation for this work by dying for the sin of the whole world. Then He began to select the Kingdom class. This election has been the work of the entire Gospel Age, everything else being secondary. Soon the work will be finished, and the overcomers will share in the First Resurrection—Rev. 20:6.

"Abraham's Seed, and Heirs."

Next the Pastor demonstrated that this Kingdom class will be the foretold Seed of Abraham. Jesus was of Abraham's stock through His miraculous birth. After His resurrection He became Abraham's Seed on the spirit plane—a New Creature. His Church are to be on the same plane.

To Abraham's earthly seed belong certain earthly promises; but these cannot go into effect until the Spiritual Seed have been perfected in the First Resurrection. St. Paul tells us that this Seed of Abraham, Jesus and the Church, are unitedly The Christ. Using the human body as an illustration, he points out that Jesus is the Head and the Church the Body of Christ. Thus we see that St. Paul was anxious to win membership in the Body of Christ, not the probationary one of the present, but the actual Body of the future.

No wonder St. Paul counted all he had sacrificed as unworthy of mention, when contrasted with the blessings which had come to the Gospel Church!

Can You Believe This?
Nature's most deadly antipathy seems to have been overcome. A rat was killed in a produce company's plant in Missouri and left four young rats, which the cat has undertaken to bring up, meantime not neglecting her duty of keeping the place clear of all adult rats that come in sight.

Escapes an Awful Fate.
A thousand tongues could not express the gratitude of Mrs. J. E. Cox of Joliet, Ill., for wonderful deliverance from an awful fatality. "Typhoid pneumonia had left me with a dreadful cough," she writes. "Sometime I had such an awful coughing spell I thought I would die. I could get no help from doctor's treatment or other medicines till I used Dr. King's New Discovery. But I owe my life to this wonderful remedy for I scarcely cough at all now." Quick and safe, it's the most reliable of all throat and lung medicines. Every bottle guaranteed. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all druggists. m.

Seeking to Improve Telephone.
Because the microphone of a telephone transmitter becomes more sensitive in rarified air, German electricians are trying to make a practical application of the phenomenon.

The Demons Of The Swamp.
are mosquitoes. As they sting they put deadly malaria germs in the blood. Then follow the icy chills and the fires of fever. The appetite flies and the strength falls; also malaria often paves the way for deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters kill and cast out the malaria germs from the blood; give you a fine appetite and renew your strength. "After long suffering," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "three bottles drove all the malaria from my system, and I've had good health ever since." Best for all stomach, liver and kidney ills. 50 cts. at all druggists. m.

Fish Affected by Water.
Experiments by aquarium experts have indicated that salt water baths will cure some ills of fresh water fish, while fresh water makes sick deep sea denizens well.

Don't waste your money buying strengthening plasters. Chamberlain's Liniment is cheaper and better. Dampen a piece of flannel with it and bind it over the affected parts and it will relieve the pain and soreness. For sale by all dealers.

No Doubt About What He Meant.
Bass—"I suppose you think I'm a fool?" Cass—"That's what troubles me. If your supposition is correct, then you are a mind-reader, and therefore you cannot be a fool; and yet—well, you understand."

Helps A Judge in Bad Fix.
Justice Eli Cherry, of Gillis Mills, Tenn., was plainly worried. A bad sore on his leg had baffled several doctors and long resisted all remedies. "I thought it was a cancer," he wrote. "At last I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve and was completely cured." Cures burns, boils, ulcers, cuts, bruises and piles. 25cents at all druggists. m.

Belated Profession.
Considering the fact that human beings have always been perfectly lovely about showing other people how to do their work, the marvel is that the new profession of scientific management didn't break out sooner.—The Cynic, in American Magazine.

Ornaments Last Longest.
Ornaments last longer than anything else that man makes. There are brooches and necklaces in museums more than 40 centuries old. Monuments, perhaps, stand second, and houses third. The life of furniture is shorter still. There is very little furniture in England which dates beyond the year 1500. Pictures last longer than furniture, and there are paintings still in fair condition which have weathered six centuries of life.

The method of that immortal dinner has not, alas been preserved, but it is known that the two dishes most fully appreciated by the Indians as well as the Americans were the 'brown roast turkey' and the 'pumpkin pie.' The great feast of the week was outdoors, for the air was balmy and the sun bright. Massasoit was there in all the bravery of a scarlet coat trimmed with lace and a copper chain, given him some time previous by Edward Winslow. In a strange medley of Indian garb and a borrowing of European costume, cementing there the bond of friendship with the white settlers which held good 441 years."

In 1621 Governor Bradford after the first harvest made provision for the colonists' rejoicing together with praise and prayer. In 1623 a day of fasting and prayer in the midst of drought was turned into thanksgiving by the coming of rain during the prayers; gradually the custom prevailed of appointing annually a thanksgiving day after harvest. These appointments were made by the governor's proclamations. During the Revolutionary war a day of national thanksgiving was annually recommended by congress. For many decades the president has annually appointed such a day and the governors of the various states have supplemented the same.
